Imagine having a Children's Art Center right here in Anderson! Over the past two years, AMOA has diligently planned for the future by aligning our goals with the community's need for impactful programming focused on children's mental, emotional, behavioral, and intellectual health. Through surveys, research, collaborations with art museums and professionals, including Ball State University, and feedback from our visitors, we've identified a unique opportunity to transform our museum into not just a destination but a significant impact hub for kids through the arts.

Central to this evolution is the establishment of AMOA's Children's Art Center. This dynamic space will provide a platform for children to learn through artistic play across various mediums such as painting, drawing, music, theater, dance, architecture, and design. Additionally, a new area will foster self-exploration, expression, and activities designed to promote understanding of others.

As we embark on this transformative journey, our classes will seamlessly adapt to this new direction, using the arts to inspire and encourage children in ways that contribute to their holistic well-being. We express gratitude to the City of Anderson for supporting this initiative by granting funds through the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) to hire an Arts Education Outreach Specialist. Their mission is to enhance our programming, classes, and community partnerships, ensuring widespread engagement with the arts among students.

Join us on this exciting adventure as we shape the future of AMOA. Your support is key to making Anderson's Children's Art Center a reality!
